

Volume 2019-2(2) Authors

Zoi Apostolou orcid.org/0000-0003-4359-397X: GREECE, University of Patras, Department of Educational Science and Early Childhood Education. Zoi is a kindergarten teacher and a researcher who holds a Master of Science degree in Education and Training from the University in Patras and the University in Aegean. She is currently a PhD student at the Faculty of Social Theory and Analysis, University of Patras. Her research interests include literacy, educational programs, educational practices, language and methodology. apostotlo@upatras.gr

Petra Čančová orcid.org/0000-0002-7601-5677: SLOVAKIA, Slovak University of Agriculture in Nitra. Petra is an associate lecturer at the Slovak University of Agriculture in Nitra at the Faculty of Economics and Management, Department of Languages. At the same time, she is doing her doctoral studies at the Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Faculty of Education, Department of Language Pedagogy and Intercultural Studies. She has been teaching English language adults for 21 years with the specific interest in testing which is also the main focus of her doctoral thesis. During her professional career, Petra has become a member of an international testing team for NATO STANAG Examinations. petra.cancova@ukf.sk

Juraj Datko orcid.org/0000-0002-9729-0168: SLOVAKIA, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Faculty of Education. Juraj holds a PhD degree in Didactics of English Language and Literature and works as an assistant professor at the Department of Language Pedagogy and Intercultural Studies. He is interested in researching the role of electronic media in English language teaching and learning. He also participates in two research projects – “APVV-15-0368Prax v centre odborovej didaktiky, odborová didaktika v Centre praktickej prípravy” and “006UKF-4/2017 Kontrastívna analýza ako efektívna podporná metóda vyučovania anglickej výslovnosti na ZŠ”. The former is a university project that aims to improve the practical preparation of teacher trainees and the latter is a department project that researches the potential of contrastive analysis for English pronunciation training at primary schools. jdatko@ukf.sk

Svetlana Dimitrova-Gyuzeleva orcid.org/0000-0002-5915-590X: BULGARIA, New Bulgarian University, Department of Foreign Languages and Cultures. Svetlana is an associate professor in Pedagogy at the Department of Foreign Languages and Cultures, English Studies Section, New Bulgarian University, Bulgaria. She holds a Master’s degree in English Philology from Sofia University, Bulgaria and in English and Applied Linguistics from the University of Cambridge, UK as well as a PhD in FLT Methodology. She has a long and varied experience of teaching English as a foreign language (incl. English for Academic Purposes), as well as teacher and mentor training in both pre- and in-service contexts across Europe, ELT material developing, test designing and collaborating with the Bulgarian Ministry of Education. Svetlana is an author and a co-author of some ELT coursebooks for Bulgarian learners of English, several resource books (e.g. Practical English Grammar with Exercises) and teacher training manuals, including the Pedagogical Portfolio for FLT Trainees (2004); she is an active participant in many international conferences and EU educational projects, e.g. Innovative Practice in Adult Language Education (2009-2011), The Multilingual Toolkit for European Mobility (2010-2012), BE READY - Life Skills and Career Development: Helping Young People Progress into Success (2015-2017). sgjuzeleva@nbu.bg

Alonso Mateo Gómez orcid.org/0000-0002-1191-8963: SPAIN, Castilla La Mancha University, Education Faculty of Albacete. Alonso Mateo is an associate professor in the English Department at the Faculty of Education of Albacete, University of Castilla La Mancha. He holds a PhD in Psychology, a Diploma in

Primary School Teaching (English Philology) by the University of Castilla La Mancha and a Bachelor in Education Sciences by the Spanish National Distance University. He has worked in the Francisco Coll Educational Foundation (FEFC) as a tutor, an English specialist, a teacher of Therapeutics Pedagogy and Coordinator of Erasmus and Etwinning projects. He is a member of the Research Group in Applied Psychology at the Psychology Department (University of Castilla - La Mancha). Alonso.Mateo@uclm.es

Niesen Heike orcid.org/0000-0001-8339-0486: GERMANY. Niesen has joined the Department of English and American Studies at Goethe University Frankfurt/Main in 2015 after she had finished her PhD on “The impact of socio-cultural learning tasks on students’ foreign grammatical language awareness” at the University of Luxemburg. She is currently involved in the LEVEL project “Linking Pedagogic Expertise through Video-Enhanced Learning scenarios” funded by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research. Her research clusters around the development of in- and pre-service EFL teachers’ multilingual-sensitive professional vision and action competence. A special focus is put on the role teachers’ multilingual resources play in the course of professional competence development. Niesen@em.uni-frankfurt.de

Monika Kusiak-Pisowacka orcid.org/0000-0002-4043-9144: POLAND, Jagiellonian University, Kraków, Faculty of Philology. Monika is a professor of English in the Institute of English Studies and a Head of the Applied Linguistics and English Language Teaching Section. She teaches courses in research methods and psycholinguistics and runs MA seminars. Her main research interests include teacher education, metacognition, reading in a foreign language and educational discourse. Her most recent publications include Reading comprehension in Polish and English: Evidence from an introspective study (2013) and Educational role of language skills (2018) – the latter one coauthored with Michał Daszkiewicz and Ryszard Wenzel. She has also written numerous articles in scholarly journals, co-authored three coursebooks for Polish EFL learners and has written two handbooks for foreign language teacher trainees. monika.kusiak@interia.pl

Jana Luprichová orcid.org/0000-0002-5290-8673: SLOVAKIA, University of Ss. Cyril and Methodius in Trnava, Faculty of Arts. Jana Luprichová is a university teacher at the Department of British and American Studies. She holds an academic degree achieved in Didactics of the English language, particularly in the field focused on the CLIL methodology. She has been involved in various international projects, financially supported by the Erasmus+ program, Visegrad Fund program and some national research programs. Currently, she is in the position of the CLIL expert in the Visegrad Fund project, dealing with the implementation of the CLIL methodology in higher education. jana.luprichova@ucm.sk

Raquel Bravo Marín orcid.org/0000-0001-5809-7739: SPAIN, Castilla La Mancha University, Education Faculty of Albacete. Raquel Bravo is an associate lecturer at the Department of Didactics of Musical Expression at the Faculty of Education in Albacete, University of Castilla La Mancha since 2016. Raquel Bravo holds a Bachelor’s degree in Musical Education, Pre-Primary Education in Humanities (University of Castilla La Mancha), a Bachelor’s degree in History and Music Sciences (University of La Rioja) and a Master’s degree in Humanities, Culture and Society. She has professional studies in the Conservatory of Music of Albacete (clarinet). She is an active teacher at Nuestra Señora del Rosario Elementary School (FEFC) of Albacete. She is a member of the Research Group LABINTIC, at the Faculty of Education of Albacete (University of Castilla - La Mancha) and a member of several Erasmus+ projects since 2014. Raquel.bravo@uclm.es

Dharmendra Mehta orcid.org/0000-0001-9890-251X: INDIA. He is a former director, reader-Pt JNIBM and HOD S.S. in Commerce, V.U., Ujjain. He holds a PhD degree in Management and is qualified in carrying out UGC (NET) Test. His areas of specialization/interest are business communication, soft skills, marketing and allied areas/HR specialization - PM & IR. shardadnm28@gmail.com

Naveen Kumar Mehta orcid.org/0000-0001-7197-4214: INDIA, Sanchi University of Buddhist-Indic Studies, Barla (Raisen), Department of English, School of Language, Literature and Arts. Triple post graduate in English Literature, Education and Management-Commerce and awarded PhDs in the area of Spirituality and UGC-NET & SLET qualified. He holds a certificate in teaching English from CIEFL, Hyderabad and was honored by the Prime Minister of India and Ministry of Human Resource Development in 2000. His area of research includes Indian writing in English literature, English language, spirituality and communication. nknmehta@gmail.com

Gabriela Mikulová ordic.org/0000-0002-9005-1850: SLOVAKIA, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Faculty of Education, Department of Language Pedagogy and Intercultural Studies. Gabriela is an English language teacher at the secondary school of Information Technologies in Kysucké Nové Mesto. This foreign language is a “tool” that she uses every day, as well as, a field of study that she is absolutely dedicated to. English language on one hand and language pedagogy on the other are subjects that Gabriela is really trying to get better at. Because of that, she is working on getting her PhD degree in an effort to become a highly qualified teacher who is well equipped to form and educate fully-fledged students. Gabriela values every opportunity to learn and experience new ideas or situations of language education due to which she participated in Erasmus+ projects for students and foreign language teachers (2-weeks stay in Southampton) and attended various language conferences (Nitra – also a member of an organizational team, Žilina). Except the English language, she likes travelling, British culture, reading books and handcraft (embroidery and crocheting). tanistrakova.g@gmail.com

Khang Duy Nguyen orcid.org/0000-0002-6121-7735: VIETNAM, Can Tho University, School of Foreign Languages. Khang Duy holds a PhD in Pedagogy from Gdansk University, Poland. His research interests are not limited to language teaching and learning research, but also didactics, professional development, pedagogy and education, curriculum development, effective application of ICT in the classroom, classroom research, practical educational theories, and application of critical theories. His current projects include teaching job in Vietnam from a realistic-oriented approach and language activities - a minor research of the project: EDUCATIONAL ROLE OF LANGUAGE. ndkhang@ctu.edu.vn

Van Thi Tuyet Phan orcid.org/0000-0003-0410-1047: VIETNAM, Can Tho University, School of Foreign Languages. She graduated from Gdańsk University, Poland with a PhD degree in Pedagogy and is currently working at Can Tho University. Van Phan Thi Tuyet is passionate about doing social and pedagogical research and always expects to raise public awareness about the roles of education in changing, bettering and developing society. Her multi-dimensional perspective on the roles of critical pedagogy in dealing with social and educational problems such as poverty, immigration, and fixed mindset in Vietnamese education could be recognized from a number of her publications. pttuyetvan@ctu.edu.vn

Muskan Solanki orcid.org/0000-0001-5262-9124: INDIA, Sanchi University of Buddhist-Indic Studies, Barla (Raisen), Department of English, School of Language, Literature and Arts. She is a PhD student in English with the area of research and interests in Indian aesthetics and poetics, modernism and post modernism. She also holds a PG certificate in teaching English as a Second Language from IGNOU, Delhi. muskan.http@gmail.com

Nektarios Stellakis orcid.org/0000-0002-1934-8715: GREECE, University of Patras, Department of Educational Science and Early Childhood Education. Nektarios is an assistant professor in Literacy and Teaching Practices in Early Childhood Education at the aforementioned university. He is a supervisor and member of examination committee in BA dissertations and MA thesis both at the Department of Educational Science and Early Childhood Education and at the Department of Primary Education, University of Patras. He is also a member of the International Reading Association and Greek Literacy Association. Nektarios served the World Organization for Early Childhood Education (OMEP) as a head of regional committee of Patras, treasurer of Greek National Committee and a president of Greek National Committee. From 2013, he is a Regional Vice-President for Europe. Among other duties, he represents OMEP in UN (Geneva, Vienna), UNESCO (Paris, Geneva), 6 International Labor Organization (Geneva), Eurochild Network (Brussels) and other international organizations based in Europe. His research interests include Writing abilities of preschool aged children, emergent literacy in pre-primary education, reading, literacy and linguistics. nekstel@upatras.gr

Yasin Turan orcid.org/0000-0002-8252-569X: TURKEY, Abdullah Gul University, School of Foreign Languages; an English instructor at Abdullah Gul University and a PhD student conducting research in the field of curriculum and instruction. He is interested in developing and evaluating curriculum as well as English for Specific Purposes (ESP). Currently, as a Fulbright visiting scholar, he is working on a project focusing on the influences of individualist and collectivist cultural traits on the factors that affect PhD students' study habits. yasin.turan@agu.edu.tr

Vaida Žeguniene orcid.org/0000-0002-6358-618X: LITHUANIA, Klaipeda University, Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, Department of Philology. Vaida is a lecturer at Klaipeda University (Cultures Communication, Business English). She is the second year PhD student in the field of Education at Klaipeda University. Her PhD dissertation is focused on global citizenship education at pre-primary school. Her key interests include applied sociolinguistics, business English, innovative methods of foreign language teaching, global citizenship, and education of pre-primary aged children. Vaida participated in Erasmus+ exchange programme with teaching of international students at Ioannina University, Greece; Messina University, Italy. She was also a part of the project implemented in Tianjin University, China where she participated in the international summer school targeted at teaching Business English in August – September, 2019. vaidazeg@gmail.com