

Volume 2020-1(3) Authors

Stephanie Demont orcid.org/0000-0001-6543-0608: UNITED KINGDOM, University of Bristol, Faculty of Arts, School of Modern Languages, Department of French. Stephanie is a Deputy French Language Director. s.demont@bristol.ac.uk

Klaudia Emanuela Gajewska orcid.org/0000-0002-5796-2951: POLAND, Maria Curie-Skłodowska University, Faculty of Humanities. Klaudia E. Gajewska (MA) is a PhD candidate at Maria Curie-Skłodowska University and an English teacher in a secondary school in Lublin, Poland. Her research interests center around Second Language Acquisition and Foreign Language Teaching with a special emphasis placed on examining the relationship between the productive skill of speaking and its subskill, pronunciation. klaudia.e.gajewska@gmail.com

Tiffany L. Gallagher orcid.org/0000-0003-3006-9773: CANADA, Brock University, Education. Tiffany, PhD is a Professor in the Department of Educational Studies and the Director of the Brock Learning Lab at Brock University. She is recognized for her research on the teaching of students with literacy learning challenges. Supporting the professional learning of teachers through literacy and technology coaching is also a focus of her work that seeks to inform audiences such as students, teachers, administrators, and policy makers. tgallagher@brocku.ca

Dilyan Gatev orcid.org/0000-0002-5878-451X: BULGARIA, University of National and World Economy Sofia, Faculty of International Economics and Politics, Department of Foreign Languages and Applied Linguistics. Dilyan is a Senior Lecturer of English and holds a B.A. and an M.A. in English Philology (British and American Studies) from St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia. He is currently a PhD student of Foreign Language Teaching Methodology at New Bulgarian University Sofia. His main interests are English for specific purposes (ESP), business English, terminological vocabulary teaching and acquisition. d.p.gatev@unwe.bg

Božena Horváthová orcid.org/0000-0002-0611-2623: SLOVAK, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Faculty of Education. She is an associate professor at the Department of Language Pedagogy and Intercultural Studies PF UKF in Nitra. She is an English and German speaking scholar, who focuses on research in applied linguistics, language pedagogy, language learning strategies, methods in researching and teaching language learning strategies and implementing language learning strategies into foreign language textbooks. bhorvathova@ukf.sk

Parwiz Hussain orcid.org/0000-0001-7569-1844: AFGHANISTAN, British Council Afghanistan, English Program. Parwiz works as an English language teacher trainer at the British Council Afghanistan. She completed her Master's Degree at the University of Warwick, Coventry, United Kingdom. She is a Hornby Educational Trust's alumna 2018/2019. Parwiz.Hossain@britishcouncil.org

Katarína Krištofovičová orcid.org/0000-0002-8272-5624: SLOVAKIA, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Faculty of Education. Katarína is a former student of further education of English

Language and Literature, which is provided for university, graduates at the Department of Language Pedagogy and Intercultural Studies at Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra. She holds a Master's degree in biology at the Faculty of Natural Sciences, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra and she is currently a teacher at a primary school. kkristofovicova@gmail.com

Nataliia Krynska orcid.org/0000-0002-9307-5241: UKRAINE, Kharkiv National University of Radioelectronics, Department of Foreign Languages.

Dr. Krynska is an Associate Professor at the Department of Foreign Languages where she researches how to apply the methods of text analysis to enhance ELT efficiency. Her scientific interests include pedagogical discourse and application of Critical Discourse Analysis methods within it. Natalia's doctoral research was devoted to the questions of syntax and semantics of compound and complex sentences. nataliia.krynska@nure.ua

André Kurowski orcid.org/0000-0002-8841-3365: UNITED KINGDOM, University of Chichester, Institute of Education, Health and Social Sciences. André is a Senior Lecturer in Childhood Studies and teaches standard entrance and mature students in Social Sciences and Management and Leadership. He is the coordinator of a BA (Hons) Top-up program. His main interests are in the fields of sociological aspects of childhood and criminology and childhood, as well as leadership in education. He is also interested in European models of education and has long standing partnership with Artevelde University College in Ghent, Belgium where he hosts their students. André's interests in language are social and cultural, particularly around social class and language. A.Kurowski@chi.ac.uk

Tess Maginess orcid.org/0000-0002-5078-8997: NORTHERN IRELAND, Queen's University, Belfast. Director of the Open Learning continuing Education Programme, School of Social Sciences, Education and Social Work. Her home discipline is literature. Her research encompasses adult education, older people's learning, innovative pedagogies with non-traditional learners, arts based education and research and literature. t.maginess@qub.ac.uk

Kim Muir orcid.org/0000-0002-3087-832X: United Kingdom, University of Derby, College of Arts, Humanities & Education. Kim is a dynamic and creative lecturer who believes in inspiring and empowering students and has always been interested in language. She has a first degree in French and German, an MA in Education specializing in TESOL and a Cambridge CELTA. Kim has been teaching international students at all levels and across many domains of English language teaching since 2006. Her lecturing experience includes teaching English for Specific Purposes (ESP) and English for Academic Purposes (EAP) as well as other exam-based courses. Her current role involves training future TESOL practitioners. Kim's research interests include language learner autonomy, international education, comparative education, refugee and English as an Additional Language (EAL) education, the multilingual classroom and translanguaging. K.Muir@derby.ac.uk

Aneta Naumoska orcid.org/0000-0001-8734-2246: NORTH MACEDONIA, Ss. Cyril and Methodius University, "Blaze Koneski" Faculty of Philology, Department of English Language and Literature. Aneta is a Teaching Assistant in Linguistics. Her main interests are grammatical categories in connection to ELT, the intersection between language and pedagogy, curriculum development, diachronic development of English. She created the first bilingual dictionary (English-Macedonian and vice versa) as a mobile app which was launched in 2016 (www.macengdictionary.com). Aneta is the author of a book on gender marking, and a Business English textbook for University students. naumoska.an@gmail.com

Mykhail Suknov orcid.org/0000-0002-7567-9279: UKRAINE, Kharkiv National University of Radioelectronics, Department of Foreign Languages.

Dr. Suknov is an Associate Professor at the Department of Foreign Languages and a participant of academic international projects 516935-TEMPUS-1-2011-1-FITEMPUS-SMGR Towards Trust in Quality Assurance Systems, 530576-TEMPUS-1-2012-1-SE-TEMPUS-SMHE. Having worked in the ELT sphere for more than 30 years, he turned the focus of his research to classroom and textbook languages involved in ELT as an object of critical discourse analysis. mykhailo.suknov@nure.ua

Fabienne Vailes orcid.org/0000-0001-6104-470X: UNITED KINGDOM, University of Bristol, Faculty of Arts, School of Modern Languages, Department of French. Fabienne is a French Language Director, SFHEA. f.vailes@bristol.ac.uk

Kari-Lynn Winters orcid.org/0000-0001-9587-8489: CANADA, Brock University, Education. Interested in art education, STEAM, multimodal literacies, and literature pedagogies/research, Dr. Winters is an Associate Professor in the Department of Educational Studies. Additionally, Kari-Lynn is an award-winning Canadian children's author, teacher, performer, and playwright. She holds degrees from UBC, OISE/UT, Brock University and National Theatre School. kwinters@brocku.ca